

SYLLABUS TEMPLATE

Course Number	HUM 460
Course Name	Psychology of Myth
Credit Value (Breakdown of theory and lab credits)	3 Theory
Catalog Course Description	Students will explore mythology from a psychological point of view, paying particular attention to the relationship between mythology and psychoanalytic traditions. In addition, students will learn mythological patterns and interpret their meaning within a psychoanalytic context, while also exploring both myth and psychology as different ways of knowing. Prerequisite: ENG 112. (Fall, Spring, Summer) (3, 3T+0S).
Student Learning Outcomes/Objectives /Competencies of the Course	Upon successful completion of this course, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Develop a greater understanding of mythology; 2. Focus on a particular issue within the study of a psychoanalytic traditions; 3. Read critically and interpret original texts in mythology and psychoanalysis; issues within the study of religion; 4. Be able to compare and contrast differing psychoanalytic traditions and myth; 5. Articulate how myth and psychology are different ways of knowing.
College-Wide Student Learning Outcomes	The following college-wide objective will be addressed in the course along with which assignment will be used to measure this outcome: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Critical Thought 2. Information Literacy Students will prepare reading responses, engage in dialog style class discussions, research and compose term papers based upon the texts presented.