

SYLLABUS TEMPLATE

Course Number Course Name	PSY 210 Theories of Personality and Counseling Applications
Credit Value (Breakdown of theory and lab credits)	3 Theory
Catalog Course Description	Survey of theory and application of both classical and contemporary approaches to the study of personality, with emphasis on an application of theory to counseling; consideration of legal and ethical issues within the profession of counseling. (3, 3T+0S)
Student Learning Outcomes/Objectives /Competencies of the Course	Upon completion of the course students should be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Identify and evaluate the major theories related to the development of personality. 2. Examine the influence of nature and nurture on personality. 3. Describe and evaluate personality assessments. 4. Apply important theoretical concepts of personality to experiences in daily life. 5. Identify the major scientific research methods in the study of personality.
College-Wide Student Learning Outcomes	The following college-wide objectives will be addressed in the course through passing an essay examination with at least 75% asking the questions 1-5 above, this assignment will be used to measure the outcome of: Communication and Critical Thought .