

ANTH 110 SYLLABUS

Course Number Course Name	ANTH 110: INDIAN CULTURES OF THE SOUTHWEST
Credit Value (Breakdown of theory and lab credits)	3 Theory
Catalog Course Description	You will study the cultures of the indigenous peoples of the Southwest, including cultural patterns relative to agriculture, religion, arts, tribal governance, economics, etc., including both pre- and post-Columbian periods. (3, 3T+0S)
Student Learning Outcomes/Objectives /Competencies of the Course	Student Learning Outcomes: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Describe socio-cultural developments, geographic environments, and characteristics of major cultural groups that currently inhabit the American Southwest.</li> <li>2. Recognize underlying similarities as well as the wide range of variability of the cultural groups in the American Southwest.</li> <li>3. Recognize the impacts and effects of Euroamerican colonization on indigenous cultural groups in the American Southwest.</li> <li>4. Describe the historical interactions and accommodations among indigenous cultural groups in the American Southwest.</li> <li>5. Examine the processes of cultural change within major cultural groups in the American Southwest.</li> <li>6. Identify and analyze some of the contemporary issues faced by major cultural groups in the American Southwest.</li> </ol>
College-Wide Student Learning Outcomes	College-wide Student Learning Outcomes <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Critical Thought</li> <li>2. Cultural Sustainability</li> </ol>