Liberal Arts: A Path to the Future

Mission Statement

---

"I think having an AA in Liberal Arts is a great idea, especially if you are not sure what to go into. In my opinion, I feel that having a liberal education is important in real world issues and conversations."

David Lucero, current AA
Liberal Arts Student

---

Northern New Mexico College Language & Letters Department provides an in-depth examination of the relationship between power and language in developing critical and creative thinking skills for thoughtful communication dedicated to engaged citizenship and social change.

What's It All About?

This program emphasizes essential skills of communication, critical thinking, and creative expression. These skills prepare you for a diverse range of disciplines and are valued by employers in many fields.

Our world has changed and people of all ages and backgrounds are thinking differently. Obtaining an Associates of Arts in Liberal Arts can be a great beginning.

“NNMC’S Liberal Arts Program helped me become who I am today and helped me rekindle my love for literature, discussion, critical thinking, for it inspired me to want to learn more about the things I loved.”

Sierra Cook, AA Liberal Arts Graduate, Current student in BAIS Humanities.

How Much Schooling Will I Need?

The curriculum has a core of just 12 credits and 60 total credits required. With 17 credits of electives, there are many options to suit individual interests. Additionally, the program provides a strong academic foundation for successful transfer to various Bachelor programs, such as the Bachelor of Arts in Integrated Studies at Northern or a Bachelor of Arts in University Studies at other institutions.

This degree fosters exploration of differing perspectives and fields of study and provides development of essential skills while supporting awareness of community and diversity. Students earning an AA Liberal Arts may identify a concentration as an emphasis for the degree.
